

REGULATE RETAIL DEALERS IN FOOD, SAYS DR. WILEY

"We must control these cormorants that are robbing us."

That's the way Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, and pioneer in the pure food movement, feels about the business of regulation of foodstuffs in this country.

Dr. Wiley voiced some of his views on the subject of food control at a recent meeting of chemists in Washington. He said then that the Hoover food administration was talking too much and doing too little. He talked more about the same matter today, and said the regulation thus far was inadequate.

"We must have regulation all along the line," said Dr. Wiley. "The food control law should be strengthened, and there should be Federal regulation of the retailer. Under the present arrangement, the licensing system applies only to the wholesaler, and the dealer doing a business of $100,000 a year or more. It is the little fellow, the little retailer, that most of us deal with, and he must be regulated."

"It won't do to stop with the fixing of the prices of the farmer's meat. To fix the prices the farmer shall receive, and to provide for general regulation of prices is unjust. The things the farmer has to buy have been increased in price a great deal more than the increase in the price of the things he has to sell."

NOBODY LOVES FAT MAN — NOT EVEN LAUNDRY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Sergeant Frank Montague, who is stationed with the United States marines at their League Island camp, is peaved.

The sergeant weighs 360 pounds. Recently he sent two khaki uniform blouses to a laundry, which turned to him unwashed, and with a notation on the laundry slip which read: "We don't launder wall tents."
